From the Army of the Potomac. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMACA Wheatland, Va., Nov. 2, 8 P. M.

To His Excellency the President: 1 have just received a dispatch from General McClellan, dated at Snicker's Gap, at 6 P. M., stating that he has full possession of the Gap When Gen. Hancock arrived there it was held by the enemy's cavalry, who were at once driven out by a column of from 5,000 to 6,000 infantry. The rebels advanced to retake it, but were dispersed by the fire of our rifled gans. The position is a strong one from either side. "It is said that Gen. Jackson and Gen. A. P. Hill are in the valley opposite. Gen. Pleasanton had driven the enemy's cavalry several miles beyond, exploding one of their gues and capturing ten of county, went one day to persuade his son, a volunteer in the rebel army, to return home. While absent from his home, his negroes, six in number, attacked his house early one morning with the design of murdering the family. They retreated, however, upon seeing a gun aimed at the crowd from a window by Mrs. Carpenter. These facts becoming known, the neighbors assembled with the intention of hanging all the negroes on the farm, but through the remonstrance of their mistress they were finally let off with thirty nine

FORTRESS MUNKON, Nov. 2-The Richmond Examiner of the 30th contains the following from Charleson dated Oct. 28th:

Tidings reached here this evening of the capture in Bull's Bay of the steamship Angles laden with valuable army stores bound to this city. When the Angles left Nassau news had been received that the Yankees were working night and day on iron clads with the view of attacking Charleston soon.

Day before yesterday a Yankee gunboat came up the river as far as West Point, making no tay, but gave notice that they intended to send up a large vessel to blockade the river and stop the rebel trade in ovsters. They also stated that the people on the Rappshannock river had not yet tasted the terms of war, and that they in tended to pay them a visit shortly.

STATUTES OF INDIANA.

GAVIN & ROMOS REVISION. The second values of Messra Garin & Herd's compliation of sidians Stream has just appeared. This volume: completes their strike lits mechanical succetion toward erer itable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the eliters berte besteretet op je ment the highest protes Name has beened, diligent lawyers emails been produced others will seventer bearing The stored volume explanate all the public statutes of ludinos new in force upon the subjects so which is related. and the first all exempting the area of the lost regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compliation that all existing statutes on each suldect are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in force on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also print, in the form of notes on the same pages containing this statute, all the acts smendatory to it which have all the other acts contained in the revision of 1852. The editors have edded much to the value of these voiumes especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These potes indieste much labor and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and accurate form, with all the adjudications of our Supreme Court on these statutes. These adjudications being now very numerous, the references to them in the volumes un fer consideration, will be of great value to the lawyer, and indeed to all persons concerned in the administration of justice. The editors have also referred, n their notes, to numerous decisions in other States, been passed up to this time. And so they have done of

made on statutes ifmilar to ours. An excellence of these volumes, got to be overlooked is the full and somerate index appended to each. In Indiaana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedied in the volumes under review; and these indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes. This is the first time that private enterprise has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The attempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprizing publishers. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the prace of the State, will find it to his advantage to own them.

The oregoing notice by Judge McDonato, of Gavin & Hono's Compilation of the Statutes of Indiana, is net designed as a pull of the work, but is an unsolicited com mendation or the ability, accuracy, and completeness with which these rolumes have been prepared.

The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the statutes will be found a neseesity to every lawyer, Justices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is private enterprize, and the publishers' only hope for remuneration is in its sale to those for whose convenience it was prepared. The two volumes contain about 1600 pages of matter, nearly double the quantity embraced

The price of the work is $4 50 per volume, or $9 00 for the two volumes. Orders addressed to the subscriber wil J. J. BINGHAM. June 7th, 1862. Indianapolis, Ind.
